Abortion RIGHTS CAMPAIGN

In 1916, the signatories of the proclamation declared a land of “equal rights and equal opportunities” for all. 100 years on, the equality promised in the proclamation hasn't been realised. Women, trans men and non-binary people who may need to access abortion in Ireland, North and South, still don't have the right to choose.

The Easter Rising sought sovereignty and self-determination for Ireland.

Today, we seek the same control over our own bodies. No longer will the Irish State strip us of our basic human rights. The United Nations has told Ireland it needs to change its restrictive laws, but we must make it happen. This year, we, the women of Ireland, with the support of all those who care about equality and human rights, are self-administering our independence.

The Abortion Rights Campaign is a growing grassroots volunteer movement of wonderful people who donate their time and energy to the campaign. You can take part! Working together, we can ensure that everyone will be able to make their own informed decisions about their bodies.
